ROBERTS ROAD RE-OPENING IN CARY DELAYED UNTIL TUESDAY AFTERNOON

RALEIGH — The scheduled re-opening of Roberts Road in Cary by the N.C. Turnpike Authority has been delayed from the original date of Monday morning, May 23 until Tuesday afternoon, May 24. Although additional time is needed, the opening will still be six days ahead of schedule.

The section of Roberts Road between Jenks Road and Green Level Church Road has been closed since March as contractors completed bridge and road work over the Western Wake Freeway segment of the Triangle Expressway Project. The new overpass is a 280-foot bridge and will accommodate a future sidewalk for pedestrians.

In addition to the overpass, Roberts Road has new asphalt at the east and west ends of the bridge. The final layer of asphalt and pavement markings on the bridge and roadway will be placed in the coming months. In the meantime, temporary lane markings are in place.
